STATE DEPARTMENT WILL AID

Companies Get Contracts for Big Marine Improvements-Giving of Naval Secrets to Builders of Argentine Ships Explained.

Bids submitted by American shipbuilders for two modern war ships to be ordered by the Chilean government were opened yesterday at the Chilean Legation. Simultaneously, bids submitted for these ships by European shipbullders were opened at the Chilean Legation in London. All of the bids will be held confidential pending their submission to the Chilean naval commission in London.

Only three American companies sub-mitted proposals. They were the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, of Quincy, Masa, the New York Shipbuilding Company, of Camden, N. J., and William Cramp's Sons, of Philia-delphia. A fourth company, the New-port News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, had prepared estimates on the specifications for the ships, but as the specifications for the ships, but at the last moment withdrew their bid. Senor Youcham, the charge d'affairs of the embassy, who opened the hids, said that, though he had no knowledge of the figures submitted by the European builders, he was much gratified by the American bids. It will probably be some time before the contracts for the ships are awarded.

The State and Navy departments are taking a keen interest in the attempt of the American shipbuilders to secure these contracts—the State Department these contracts—the State Department of would be a feather for videling because it would be a feather for "dollar diplomacy," and the Navy Department because it realizes that foreign business is necessary for the successful decelopment of American shipyards, and shipyards, it considers, are an essential attibute of the navy.

The Chilean government has recently appropriated $15,000,000, which was made immediately available. For the construction of "one or two battle ships or armored cruisers." Besides this, there is an additional appropriation of $14,000,000 for river, harbor, and marine improvements, at all of which work American companies will be given a chance. It is expected that the Chilean government will order more battle ships in the near future. The State Department will deal in its power to secure this work for American interests.

TREASURER RAPI DEFENDS CAMORRA

Tries to Shatter Testimony of Abatermaggio.

Viterbo, April 5.—Giovanni Rapi, the supposed treasurer of the Camorra, was interrogated to-day by President Bianchi. He was on the stand throughout the entire day. He denied that he had any part in the murder of the Cuoccolos, strove to shatter the testi-mony of Gennaro Abatemaggio, the informer, and told the court of his adconturous career without restraint. He laid great stress on his assertion that he was so confident of acquittal that If a vote were taken to-day as the he voluntarily gave himself up after Rapi, like de Marinis, who testified yesterday, is of refined appearance, and affects the latest and most fastidious styles in his apparel. He gave the impression that he held himself far superior to the other prisoners. By profession Rapi is an aristocratic gambler. He founded the Unione del sideration of the case is conceded. It Mexicgiorne, the Monte Carlo of Naples, and conducted fashionable gambling resorts in Rome and Ostend. Later he lost almost his entire fortune in the failure of his Southern Club, at Naples.

Rapi lived in Paris for several years prior to 1962 to escape the surveillance of the authorities, who suspected him of killing his rival for the favors of a roman of unenviable reputation. He admitted his expulsion from France in com-pany-with Hovever, a well-known mar-quis and journalist. He said he had never seen Abatemaggio. The latter interrupt-ed to state that he had made the ac-quaintance of the witness on June 21, 1902. Rapi replied that he was in London quaintance of the witness on June 21, 1902. Rapi replied that he was in London on that date.

Concerning his movements on the day of the Cuoccolo murders, Rapi said;

'On that day I was with Enrico Alfano to try out some carriage horses. At Torre del Greco we met some friends and we all dined together. I, being the richest of the party, paid the bill. When I was arrested the first time this explanation of my movements on that day was sufficient to gain my release.'

Rapi devoted much of his time on the stand to boasting of his social prominence. He named Ballanti, the treasurer of Naples, as his most esteemed friend, and mentioned several other names well known in Italian social and official circles. He also boasted of his superior education, saying he spoke French, English, and several other languages. His linguistic abilities, he said, would have enabled him to roam over the continent at great ease, but he preferred to return to Italy and place himself at the disposal of the judicial authorities of his fatherland.
